NUVOLT CORPORATION INC.

Notes to interim consolidated financial statements

As at November 30, 2010 and 2009

1 - STATUTES OF INCORPORATION AND NATURE OF ACTIVITIES

The Company, incorporated under Part 1A of the Québec Companies Act, manufactures and distributes stray voltage neutralization equipment and electrical network monitoring devices to agriculture market.

2 - GOING CONCERN ASSUMPTION

These interim financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles applicable to a going concern, which assumes that the Company will continue its operation in the foreseeable future and will be able to realize its assets and discharge its liabilities in the normal course of operations.

The Company incurred significant operating loss during the past year and has an accumulated deficit as at November 30, 2010. As a result, its ability to continue as a going concern depends on the financial support of its creditors and shareholders, as well as the Company's ability to generate an operating profit. The Company is currently seeking new investors.

These interim financial statements do not reflect adjustments that would be necessary if the going concern assumption were not appropriate. Management feels that the measures the Company took or intends to take will mitigate the effect of the conditions and facts that raise doubt about the appropriateness of the going concern assumption on which it based the preparation of these financial statements.

If the Company were not able to respect the going concern principle, some assets could be subject to impairment or a significant reduction in value.

3 - SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Principle of consolidation

The consolidated interim financial statements include the accounts of the Company and its subsidiary Agrivolt Inc.

Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingencies at the date of the interim financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting quarter. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Currency translation

Monetary assets and liabilities are translated at the exchange rate in effect at the balance sheet date, whereas other assets and liabilities are translated at the rates in effect at the date of the transaction. Revenue and expense items are translated at the average quarter rate, except for amortization, which is translated at his historical cost. All exchange gains and losses are current in nature and are included in the statements of income.

Revenue recognition

The principal revenues of the Company are equipment sales and maintenance revenues. Revenues are recognized when the following conditions are respected :

- Persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists ;
- The seller's price to the buyer is fixed or determinable.

NUVOLT CORPORATION INC.

Notes to interim consolidated financial statements

As at November 30, 2010 and 2009

The Company accounts for its equipment sales when the customer has confirmed its acceptance of the equipment and when the collection is reasonably assured.

The maintenance revenues are accounted for on a straight-line basis over the contract period. The amounts billed or received according to the terms of the contract with customers, that are not satisfying those accounting criterias, are recognized as deferred revenues.

Where an agreement provides from multiple deliverables, the Company allocates the proceeds of the sale between the various components according to the relative value method.

The interest income are accounted for according to the actual method.

Income taxes

The Company accounts for as income tax expense or revenue the amount of income taxes payable or recoverable for the year and the change of the future income tax assets and liabilities accounts based on current income tax rate applied to temporary difference between the carrying value of the Company's assets and liabilities and their tax base. A future income tax asset is accounted for when it is more likely than not that the Company will benefit from the tax relief related to deductible temporary differences.

Financial assets and financial liabilities

Financial assets and financial liabilities are initially recognized at fair value and classified in one of the following categories: held-for-trading financial assets or liabilities, investments held-to-maturity, loans and receivables, available-for-sale financial assets and other financial liabilities. They are subsequently recognized according to their classification as described below. Their classification depends on the purpose for which the financial instruments were acquired.

Held-for-trading financial assets

Financial instruments, which include cash and the bank overdraft, are classified as held-for-trading financial assets and are recognized at fair value at each balance sheet date. Any change in fair value is included in net income during the period in which it arises.

Loans and receivables and other financial liabilities

Financial instruments classified as loans and receivables, including the accounts receivable and the notes receivable and other financial liabilities, including bank loan, accounts payable, long-term debt and the debenture are recognized at amortized cost using the effective interest rate method. Interest income or expense is included in net income over the expected term of the instrument.

Fair value

The fair value generally corresponds to the consideration for which the instrument could be exchanged in a transaction at arm's length transaction between knowledgeable, willing parties freely under conditions of full competition.

Transaction cost

Transaction costs are deducted from the debenture and amortized using the effective interest rate on the actual expected life of the debenture concerned.

NUVOLT CORPORATION INC.

Notes to interim consolidated financial statements

As at November 30, 2010 and 2009

Inventory

Raw materials are valued at the lower of cost and replacement cost, the cost being determined using the first in, first out method. Finished goods and goods in process inventories are valued at the lower of cost (including raw materials, direct labour and manufacturing overhead) and net realizable value, the cost being determined using the first in, first out method.

Capital assets

Capital assets are accounted for at cost.

Amortization is based on their estimated life using the following methods and rates:

	Amortization method	Rate
Reference works	straight-line	33.33%
Tools and equipment	straight-line	20%
Data processing equipment and software	straight-line	33.33%
Commercial booths	straight-line	33.33%
Rolling stock	diminishing balance	30%
Furniture and fittings	straight-line	12.5% and 20%

Intangible assets

Patents and trademark

Patents and trademark are accounted for at cost.

Amortization is based on their estimated life using the straight-line method at the rate of 10%

Deferred development costs

Research and development costs are expensed as incurred. However, development expenses are deferred when they meet generally accepted criterias for deferral up to the amount that is reasonably certain to be recovered. Deferred development expenses are amortized on a straight-line basis over a five-year period.

Investment tax credits for research and development expenses and government assistance are recognized in deduction in the period when the cost is incurred, on condition that the Company is reasonably certain of the materialization of the credits. Investment tax credits must be examined and approved by the fiscal authority in a way that the amount accepted may differ of the accounted amount.

Impairment of long-lived assets

Long-term assets are tested for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount exceeds the undiscounted cash flows expected to result from their use and eventual disposition. An impairment loss should be measured as the amount by which the carrying amount of a long-term asset exceeds its fair value. No impairment loss was recognized as at November 30, 2010 and 2009.

Products warranties

The equipment sold are covered by a one year warranty. Estimated warranty repairs are accounted for by the Company at the time of sale of the products under warranty based on their past experience.

NUVOLT CORPORATION INC.

Notes to interim consolidated financial statements

As at November 30, 2010 and 2009

Issuance costs

Share issuance costs have been applied against retained earnings.

Stock-based compensation and other stock-based products

The Company offers a stock-based compensation plan that is described in Note 17. The Company recognizes as an expense in the statements of income the fair value of the stock options at the grant date. Any consideration paid by employees on exercise or purchase of stock options is credited to share capital. Compensation expense for options granted under the stock option plan is recognized on a straight-line basis over the vesting period of the options. The value allocated to the stock options is transferred to capital stock once the common shares are issued.

Cash and cash equivalents

The Company's cash and cash equivalents include cash and highly liquid financial instruments, with an initial term of three months or less.

4. FUTURE CHANGES TO SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

International financial reporting standards (IFRS)

In February 2008, The Accounting Standards Board has confirmed that publicly accountable enterprises must adopt IFRS for years beginning on or after January 1st, 2011. Consequently, the Company will apply IFRS from September 1, 2011. These standards will replace current generally accepted accounting principles of Canada. The Company is currently evaluating the future impact of these new standards on its commercial operations, financial information systems and financial statements.

20 - COMMITMENTS

The Company has leases commitments until 2012 for the rental of warehouses and rolling stock. The balance of the commitments under such leases is $ 108,168. Minimum payments payable required for the next two years are as follows:

2011- $ 87,774

2012- $ 20,394

During the year 2010, the Company has entered into an employment contract of indefinite duration with two directors. The Company must pay a severance payment in the event that it would terminate the contract for any reason other than serious misconduct.

21 - EARNING PER SHARE

The basic earning per common share is calculated by dividing the net income (net loss) assumed by the common shareholders by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the period. Diluted net income (net loss) per share is calculated giving effect to the potential dilution that could occur if stock options and warrants to issue common shares were exercised at the later of the beginning of the period or the issuance date. The treasury stock method is used to determine the dilutive effect of stock options and warrants.

The following table shows the basic weighted average number of common shares outstanding:

	November 30, 2010 (3 months)	November 30, 2009 (3 months)
Basic weighted average number of shares	73,099,471	62,401,695

Items excluded from the calculation of diluted net income per share because the exercise price was greater than the average market price of the

Stock options	5,198,693	1,865,679
Warrants	16,228,070	12,808,212

For the quarter ended November 30, 2010 and 2009, there is no difference between the basic and diluted net income (net loss) per share since the average market price is lower than the exercise price of the stock option and the warrants. Consequently, the diluted net income (net loss) per share for this period was calculated using the basic weighted average number of shares outstanding.

During the quarter, the Company offset a tax credit receivable of $ 31,433 (2009- $ 39,874) against intangible assets.

23 - FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

Market risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value or cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market factors. Market risk comprises three types of risk: interest rate risk, currency risk and price risk. The Company is exposed to two of these risks; the risk associated with interest rate and currency risk.

Interest rate risk

The Company has borrowings bearing interest at variable rates. Consequently, the Company is exposed to interest rate risk based on changes in the prime rate. However, a 1% change in the prime rate would not have a significant effect on the Company's results and financial position. Assuming a 1% increase of the interest rate on the amounts reported in Long-Term Debts, net loss would have increase by $ 77 for the quarter ended November 30, 2010.

Currency risk

Part of the Company's purchases and sales are denominated in foreign currency, namely in US dollars. Consequently, the Company has a foreign currency exposure on certain assets and liabilities. As at November 30, 2010, net assets denominated in US dollars and converted to Canadian dollars totalled $ 311,992 (August 31, 2010 - $296,743). The Company does not use financial instruments to manage its exposure to changes in currency exchange rates.

An increase of 1% of the Canadian dollar against the American dollar, all other variables remaining constant, would decrease the net loss of $ 742 (2009 - Increase of $2,480). A decrease of 1% of the Canadian dollar against the American dollar would increase the net loss of the same amount.

Credit risk

The Credit risk is primarily attributable to a debtor not respecting its financial obligations. The Company does not believe to be exposed to a risk of credit higher than normal in regards to its customers. The Company has several customers in various geographical areas, verifies new customers' credit and recognizes a provision for bad debt when management believes that there is a risk not to recover the amount receivable. Moreover, the Company has credit insurance for most of its accounts receivable. The maximal exposure is equal to the book of notes receivable.

Cash flow risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Company may not be able to meet all its commitments regarding net cash flow in a timely manner.

The Company has a credit facility, which allows it to have sufficient funds to meet its short-term financial needs associated with its regular operations. The Company monitors its cash flow weekly, which allows it to seek additional liquidity in a timely manner, when required. The necessary funding comes from debt and the contribution of share capital, and allows the Company to pursue its activities.

As at November 30, 2010, the Company had accounts payable of $644,876 (31 août 2010 – $351,968). The maturity date of the long-term debt, the debenture and commitments are presented in Notes 13, 14 and 20.

Fair value

The fair value of notes receivable could not be determined because it is virtually impossible to find on the market a financial instrument with basically the same economic characteristics.

For the notes payable bearing interest at variable rates, the fair value is comparable to the book value, since their variable rate.

For the debentures, other notes payable and amount payable, the fair value is comparable to the book value due to the interest rate that is comparable to the rate to which the Company could negotiate a loan with similar conditions and expiry.

Financial instruments carried at fair value are classified into a hierarchy which reflects the importance of data used to compile the ratings. This hierarchy includes three levels:

Level 1 -Prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets and liabilities, cash and bank overdraft are classified in this level.

Level 2 -Evaluation data from observable market for the asset or liability, directly or indirectly obtained.

Level 3 -Evaluation based on data other than observable market for the asset or liability.

During the quarter ended November 30, 2010, there was no transfer in assessments of financial assets between the different levels.

24 - SEGMENT INFORMATIONS

The Company has examined its activities and has determined that its operates only under one reportable operating sector. This segment is the selling of neutralisation equipment of stray voltage and control system of farm electric equipment.

The Company operates from only one localisation. All of the Company's capital assets and intangible assets are located in Canada.

Revenues by geographic region are detailed as follows:

	November 30, 2010 (3 months)	November 30, 2009 (3 months)
Canada	162,582 $	272,404 $
United-States	104,368 $	94,073 $
	266,950 $	366,477 $
